REBukes Discourteous.

Announcer Thomas Reminds Women Who Disturb Recital.

"Ladies, ladies, you are disturbing the performance. Will you remain in your seats until after the recital is over?" were the words that greeted two women who started to leave the tabernacle yesterday afternoon before the recital was concluded.

Organist John J. McClellan was playing the second number on the programme, which was comprised of three pieces. He had just finished the second selection, Mendelssohn's "Spring Song," and was waiting for the applause to subside before starting on "Then You'll Remember Me."

But the "Bohemian Girl," when he noticed two women dressed in black arise from their seats on the north side of the gallery near the front of the auditorium. He mentioned to C. J. Thomas, the announcer of the programme, who arose and gave his reprimand to the offenders. The women stopped, long enough to hear the reprimand, then continued on their way towards the door. It was locked so they were obliged to sit on the stairs until after the last selection had been rendered.

AFTER RESTAURANT MAN.

Health Officer Korth Swears to Warrant Against J. Schaffer.

Deputy Health Officer W. J. Korth yesterday afternoon swore out a warrant charging James Schaffer, proprietor of the Chesapeake cafe, with maintaining and refusing to abate a nuisance. Deputy Korth paid a visit to the restaurant Monday for the purpose of inspecting the cellar. According to his statements, he found things in an unsanitary condition, the result of carelessness, and ordered Schaffer to clean the basement up.

Korth says the latter refused to abate the alleged nuisance, and upon this ground he swore to the warrant.

CHANGE SHEEP DRIVE

City Would Have Road Farther From Town—Bridge is Necessary.

The commissioners of Davis county came to Salt Lake yesterday to confer with the local county commissioners and the streets committee of the city council in regard to the erection of a bridge across the Jordan near the Davis county stock yards. Through some misunderstanding none of the councilmen were present, and Commissioner Standish was the only representative of Salt Lake county.

The city is desirous of building another sheep drive through the town from the direction of Black Rock. The drive now enters the city at the southeast corner, follows Camp's lane as far as Ninth North, along this street through Oakley subdivision to the road into Davis county, which passes by Warm Springs, and on through Davis county to the stock yards. The new route under consideration will go west on highway No. 33, which is some distance south of Camp's lane. It will follow the line of the highway to the Jordan, where it is proposed to erect a bridge across to Davis county. From the river it is but a short distance to the stock yards. Thus the drive will be almost entirely within the city limits, which is the aim of the council committee.

Commissioners from Davis county have not yet formed an opinion whether they care to bear part of the expense of a bridge, which will cost from $1,200 to $1,500. Chairman James H. Anderson of the Salt Lake county commissioners objects to the new drive, as he sees no use in building it. Commissioner Standish says he will favor it and see that the county secure the right of way and grades the necessary extension of highway No. 20 west to the Jordan, providing that the city will make an attempt to close the sheep road through Emigration canyon. Salt Lake county will bear none of the expense of erecting the bridge. Davis county and Salt Lake city will have to pay for that.

Mr. Standish is fearful lest the city will endeavor to close Emigration canyon to sheep drivers on account of the town's watershed in the canyon, which the councilmen have long endeavored to do. There has been considerable trouble about the sheep drive through this canyon, the matter being discussed at great length in the state legislature. The city has maintained that it ought to be closed to keep pure the water supply. The sheep men, on the other hand, say that if the canyon drive is closed it will take times as long to go around by a different route, and Commissioner Standish says the sheep drivers ought to be protected. The sheep drive to Emigration canyon at present runs from the western limits of the city along Twelfth South to Twenty-first East, and along this highway to the canyon.

Mr. Standish is of the opinion that the city should not close the sheep drive through this canyon if the city would keep its creek entirely fenced in, instead of only partly as now. He says the water in the canyon flows across the road a flume ought to be built. At present sheep crossing the creek where it intersects the drive waste into the water and pollute it. The aqua pura then flows peacefully on to the city, whose unsuspecting residents drink it, entirely innocent as to what it may contain.

SEES THINGS ON THE COAST.

J. W. Houston Home From the Far West.

J. W. Houston, president of the Houston Real Estate Investment company returned from the coast yesterday morning accompanied by his wife. Mr. Houston went to Portland as a delegate to the American mining congress, representing the Salt Lake Real estate association. After the adjournment of the congress he visited all points of special interest near Seattle on the north to Long Beach on the south.

"Seattle," he said, in speaking of his trip, "is the great city of the northwest. It is wonderful how fast it is growing and improving. It has outstripped all cities in the far west except San Francisco and is becoming a dangerous rival for San Francisco. My judgment is that it will be the metropolis of the Pacific slope."

The salmon fishing in the Columbia river was a revelation to Mr. Houston. He watched the process from the catching of the fish to the sealing of the cans and tells interesting stories of the industry. He was also enthusiastic over Long Beach. He reached that place three days after the great tidal wave forty feet high. The waves were still rolling high, but the bathing was delightful. He considers this the greatest beach for bathing in the world.

The busy season was past in Los Angeles but Mr. Houston found the city prospering and many fine buildings going up or just finished. He thinks Los Angeles prospers on the prosperity of the balance of the world.

Real Estate Men Open Information Bureau.

The bureau of information to be operated by the Salt Lake Real Estate association has been opened in the Morlan block and the work of fitting up the institution is being pushed forward under the supervision of Secretary J. B. Miller. The fine mineral cabin that for years was buried in a dark corridor in the mining exchange has been rescued and occupies a prominent place in the bureau. Other fine mineral specimens are being added to the original stock and the whole is being artistically arranged and systematically labeled. Specimens of fruit and manufactured products are also being received and much work is being inaugurated in the way of sending out advertising matter. It is the intention of the association to have an opening in a few days when the public generally will be invited to visit the bureau and see for themselves some of the wonders of their own state. Upward of 800 strangers have already visited the bureau and carried away with them better ideas of Utah as a place for investment.

INTERESTS CAB MEN

Case of City Against H. T.

Shirley Being Fought Out in City Court.

Salt Lake cabmen and drivers of licensed vehicles generally are watching with interest the new developments in the case of the city against H. T. Shirley, charged with violating ordinance 767, providing for the rights of drivers and runners about depots and railroad cars. Shirley was arrested several weeks ago because he had entered the Rio Grande depot for the alleged purpose of getting baggage belonging to some patron without first exhibiting his checks.

Attorney J. A. Largent, representing Shirley, moved yesterday afternoon in the city court that no evidence be admitted, but that the defendant be discharged on the ground that the complaint did not cover the offense charged. The case is now in the hands of the court. In support of his contention, he cited revised city ordinance 765, which makes it unlawful for any driver or runner soliciting patronage to leave his vehicle for a distance of more than six feet, "except for the purpose of securing, when requested, the baggage of his patron."

It was urged by the defense that under this ordinance Shirley was within his rights, even though he exhibited no checks before entering the depot. Prosecuting Attorney Willey maintained that Shirley was a runner soliciting patronage for a public vehicle, and that he was therefore liable under ordinance 767. For the purpose of securing additional witnesses, the case was continued until 2 p. m. Thursday.

STATE ENGINEERS TO MEET.

Important Gathering of Officials at Boise.

State Engineer A. F. Doremus left last night for Boise, Idaho, to attend a meeting of state engineers to be held in that city Sept. 15. The intention is to have present at this meeting the state engineers of all the states in which the government is doing now or planning to do irrigation work. The object is to have the states work in harmony as far as possible, especially as to the work that the states are doing under state laws. The engineers feel that they can greatly assist each other in the work of irrigation between the states and between the states and the general government.

NO REASON GIVEN FOR WHITAKER TO RESIGN

No one could be found in Salt Lake yesterday to verify the announcement wired from St. Louis that Director General S. T. Whitaker of the Utah World's fair commission had been pushed forward to the governor, and would leave for home at once. Governor Wells had not returned from his fishing trip to Idaho, and Secretary of State James T. Hammond, who was acting governor, said he had received no word from Mr. Whitaker in regard to his alleged resignation.

Commissioner Hoyt Sherman gave it as his opinion that Mr. Whitaker had not resigned. "There is no reason known to myself or the other members of the commission why he should," said Senator Sherman. "There has been no friction or trouble in the commission. I know of no reason why Mr. Whitaker should sever his connection with it, unless his private business needs more of his attention than he is now giving it."

ATTENDANCE IS INCREASED

Lowell Grammer and Both High Schools Register More Pupils.

The attendance at the Lowell school was increased considerably yesterday, so to relieve the overcrowded condition of the building a number of children were transferred to the new Lafayette school, where there is more room. Both the East and West Side High schools had an increase in the number of pupils on the second day of school, which will break the attendance record at these buildings.

The manual training benches just received from the east were distributed among the different buildings yesterday and will be in place so that the sloyd classes can commence sessions Monday. Miss Ann Corbett, who will have charge of the sewing department in the grammar schools, is expected to arrive from Cambridge, Mass., today, to take up her work.

W. Stockwell, state superintendent of public instruction of North Dakota, will arrive in Salt Lake from the coast Friday evening. He will spend two or three days visiting the local schools. Saturday afternoon he will address the city teachers at 4 p. m. at the school assembly room.

DENVER'S HARD LUCK

Not in it With Missouri River Points in the Matter of Freight Rates.

Denver, Colo., Sept. 13.—Interstate Commerce Commissioner Charles A. Prouty today continued the investigation begun yesterday of complaints of alleged discrimination in freight rates by the railroads against the city. Evidence was submitted by local manufacturers and merchants in support of their contention that rates on some commodities from Atlantic coast points are higher to Denver than to San Francisco, and that Missouri river cities are granted lower rates than Denver to interior Colorado points.

The following railroad officers were in attendance at the hearing today: William R. Kelly, general attorney of the Union Pacific; J. A. Munroe of the Union Pacific; J. A. Kelly, general attorney of the Burlington, all from Omaha; George H. Crosby, assistant general traffic manager of the Burlington. Under examination Traffic Manager Munroe of the Union Pacific explained that Missouri river points were especially favored because that section was the great distributing point east and west, and the railroads must necessarily make a rate basis at those cities; that Denver had a contributory territory 100 miles to the east, but that lack of population kept the jobbers and manufacturers here from selling all their product.

PLAN BIG UTAH DAY

World's Fair Commissioners From This State Seek to Make Oct. 20 Memorable.

The Utah world's fair commissioners, at a meeting to be held tomorrow or Friday, will begin making arrangements for Utah day at the fair, Oct. 20. The date, agreed upon by the commissioners and the management of the fair, it is intended that the state shall make as fine a display upon that occasion as the financial resources of the state commission will permit.

Governor Wells and his military staff will take part in the Utah day ceremonies, and it is believed that some of the other state officials, Mayor Morris and a number of the other city and county officials from Ogden, Provo and other localities in the state will go along.

Senator Hoyt Sherman, one of the commissioners, is now negotiating with the railroads having lines running from Salt Lake to St. Louis for a special excursion rate. He said yesterday that if he could secure the general passenger agents that Utah would take a special train of from six to eight sleepers and a diner or two, they would be more apt to make a low round trip rate.

Senator Sherman favors taking a military band and a company of the Utah national guard along, providing the money can be produced to defray the expense.

FAMED FOREIGNERS HERE.

Representatives of Austrian Emperor Visit Salt Lake.

Two titled foreigners were in the city yesterday for a few hours. They were Baron Ladislaus Piret de Behain de Budapest, Hungary, and Count Georges Karolyi of Maroly, Hungary. The first named was headed to Samuel Porter, manager of the Korymbos hotel, just before registering, his card, on which was printed in bold script: "Chambellan Actual de S. M. l'Empereur d'Autriche et Roi Apostolique de Hongrie." Manager Porter hastily read the card and exclaimed: "Ah, you come from the king. Pardon me, but what king is it?" The baron replied that he was connected with the imperial government of the monarch of Austria-Hungary.

Just then Count Karolyi presented his card, on which was inscribed: "Chambellan de Sa Majeste Apostolique de Hongrie." The distinguished tourists departed later in the day for Denver and St. Louis. To a representative of The Herald they said they were on their way to attend the World's fair as the duly accredited representatives of the imperial court of Francis Joseph. They had as far as possible, especially the five days ago, they said. After spending a couple of weeks at the World's fair they would return to their native land via New York.

Free to Men!

AND WOMEN, TOO!

Do you want to be a big, husky man, with vim and power in your every action, with courage, self-confidence and ambition to "do things"? Do you want to get rid of that feeling of gloom, that weariness in your back, that nervous, worn-out feeling which unfits you for business or pleasure?

Do you want to feel like a man all over, to hold up your head with the knowledge that you are the man that nature meant you to be?

I know that no man remains a weakling because he wants to. I am sure that you want to overcome every indication of early decay that has shown itself on you. I don't think the man lives who would not like to feel as big and strong as a Sandow, and I know that if you have a reasonable foundation to build upon, you can do it.

Do you want to know how I can make you a bigger man than you ever hoped to be. I want you to know that, you who can't believe it, and want you to have my book in which I describe how I learned that strength was only electricity, and how I learned to restore it. I also want to tell you the names of some men who will tell you that when they came to me they were physical wrecks, and are now among the finest specimens of physical manhood.

I can do just as much for women as for men. I have thousands of letters from grateful women, who had spent years and money trying to get relief from their troubles, and who came to me as a last resort and are cured now.

Why should you be suffering when you know that your friends are being cured? Why the money you spend for drugs in a few months, if invested in my treatment, will assure you health and happiness for life. Don't you believe it? Then send for the book with the proof that I can give you, and you will be convinced.

Don't wait a minute. Send for this book now. If you will inclose this ad. I will send you the book and will give you the names of your own neighbors who are cured. I will tell you whether I can cure you or not, if you will tell me your troubles.
